"Shaping the World Around You" 2007 Youth Enrichment & Recreation Camp

"Shaping the World Around You" camp was developed to address the concerns and needs of today's youth. The purpose of this camp is to provide interactive, outcome-driven programs that are designed to meet students where they are academically, physically, socially, and artistically. This camp will also assist students in gaining skills that will lead to safe, sound, life-long practices and behaviors.

We accomplish this by working with students academically through the use of engaging technology and processes. We expose students to the world of technology through computer-based animation, music creation, and digital video development. We attack fitness issues head-on by offering daily fitness programming, and also offering a wide variety of recreational components that will excite youngsters of all ages. We prepare students for leadership by going through a variety of career exploration activities that introduce students to cutting age careers, and work with students on decision making, time management and conflict resolution by utilizing materials that allow students to role play and deploy other interactive practices.

"Shaping the World Around You" camp will provide 21st century skills for 21st century learners in an environment that is safe, welcoming, and fit for the leaders of today and tomorrow.
